ROUND POND ESTATE

Founder Bob MacDonnell spent many summers as a child relaxing and camping at West Point's "Round Pond" recreational area in New York state. This source of idyllic youthful memories became the inspiration for the MacDonnell family's Napa Valley home, winery, and farm.

For nearly a quarter century, the MacDonnell family has grown some of the finest wine grapes in the heart of the Napa Valley's acclaimed Rutherford region. Cultivated with meticulous care, these grapes are sought-after by some of the most preeminent wineries in the region.

Today, Round Pond Estate is owned and operated by the second generation of the MacDonnell family and is celebrated for its superior quality, craftsmanship, and timeless beauty. Handcrafted from the finest of the estate's 362 acres, Round Pond's limited production world-class wines embody the essence of a winemaking philosophy passionately rooted in the soil.

Round Pond Estate wines are artfully crafted by Jamie "JJ" Dowell, and the legendary Thomas Rivers Brown; two of the most talented winemakers in Napa Valley.

NAPA VALLEY

For more than a century, the Rutherford region in the heart of Napa Valley has been recognized for producing red wines of incomparable opulence and elegance. Although measuring a mere six square miles, this coveted winegrowing area is home to some of the oldest and most storied wineries in the United States.

Offering a unique mix of microclimate and soil composition, Rutherford has proven ideal for the cultivation of Cabernet Sauvignon, as well as premium Italian and Spanish olives. Offering abundant sunshine, warm daytime temperatures and only moderate cooling influences, Rutherford yields fruit with ripe, robust character. Rutherford's unique alluvial soils deposited over millennia by the Napa and Russian rivers as well as the Conn Creek enhance the region's rich palette of flavors.
